$2,500,000 To be Asked For Schools

Sequoia high school district trustees last week voted unanimously to ask the voters' approval of a $2,500,000 bond issue and continuance of the current $1 tax rate maximum in a May 10 election.

The bond issue and tax rate continuance were taken under consideration after members of the audience at the board meeting, held last Wednesday evening at Sequoia high school library, indicated they were against raising the tax rate maximum to $1.25 per $100 assessed valuation.

A group of Menlo Park-Atherton area residents argued against the proposed tax hike. Their spokesman was James Rafferty of 92 Atherton avenue, who took the view that capital outlay and operating costs should be "disassociated" to eliminate the possibility of present residents paying for capital improvements, while future residents will use them without paying for them.

The $2,500,000 bond issue figure was submitted on the basis of "rough estimates" by members of the board of trustees.

Needed improvements and their estimated costs included $200,000 for purchase of a fourth high school site; $1,100,000 for six classrooms at Menlo-Atherton high school and four classrooms at San Carlos-Belmont high school; $624,000 for gymnasiums at the two schools and the balance for architects' and engineers fees and alterations at Sequoia high school itself.

Meeting

ALL ABOUT TAXES

Taxing policies of the several overlapping special districts and the cities of Menlo Park and Atherton for the coming fiscal year will be discussed at a special meeting to be held at the Menlo Park civic center on March 28.

A discussion of the history of the meeting, and its purpose, will be found in the column, "Your City's Business," written by Mayor Charles P. Burgess, on page 4.

2 'Runaway' Boys Nabbed By Police Here

Menlo Park police officers Sunday night apprehended two 17-year-old boys, allegedly "runaways" from Twin Falls Idaho, as the pair entered Menlo Park to visit a friend.

According to police reports, the boys were apprehended as they paused at a Menlo Park service station to get directions to the home of a friend residing in this city.

Police Sergeant Tony DeCampo and Officer Charles McComisky, heeding a bulletin from the boys' home city, spotted the boys' car after it had been in the city only a few minutes.

The pair told the police they financed the trip with a check cashed in Idaho, and had not made any similar efforts to obtain money in this area.

They were taken to Hillcrest juvenile home pending disposition of their case.

Two in Race For School Board Post

A contest for a post on the Menlo Park elementary school district board of trustees developed this week, with incumbent Board member Mrs. Phyllis O. Campbell announcing that she will be a candidate for re-election.

Thomas G. Leigh of 530 Fanita way has previously stated his candidacy for the position.

In announcing that she will file for another term on the board, Mrs. Campbell said she was doing so because "it is my wish to continue on the board of trustees in order to support our program of emphasis on the basic 'three R's' plus."

STATEMENT

Mrs. Campbell, who is the mother of three children, now attending Menlo Park schools, added.

"It is our intention to encourage the maximum development of each child, whatever his capacity; provide adequate buildings for the growing school population and avoid double sessions wherever possible; secure the best possible teachers; stimulate the growth of such personality traits as initiative resourcefulness and mutual understanding in our children and welcome participation in planning for the education of our children by the entire community."

Leigh, who announced his candidacy in January, is the father of two children, both of whom are attending the Menlo Park schools. At the time of announcing his candidacy, he said that he "wanted to help straighten out some discipline problems" that had come to his attention.

Leigh is 32 years old, and has lived in Menlo Park for the past three years. He is the co-proprietor of a paint and wallpaper business in this city and was at one time an instructor in remedial reading and English at Menlo school. He is a graduate of Stanford university.

Mrs. Campbell is a graduate of the University of Southern California, and has taken graduate courses in child psychology and guidance at Stanford university. She is active in Parent-Teacher association activities, serving as program chairman, safety chairman and recreation chairman for the unit of which she is a member.

Deadline for registering to vote in the school election is March 23.

Spring:

IT'S SPRUNG!

"Spring"—slightly damp—has sprung on Menlo Park. It starts today, the almanac says. Usually the change of the season is heralded by a few rays of sunshine and an epidemic of topless convertibles.

Instead we find it necessary to look to Webster's for a printed description of the time "when a young man's fancy . . ." According to the dictionary, spring occurs when ". . . the sun's center, in crossing the equator, coincides with the vernal equinoctial point." The printed definition will have to suffice until blue sky proves the issue.

Meanwhile, the annual "inchage" of rain is nearly twice the normal; "blue" has become a prevalent state of mind rather than the age-old color of sky; damp shoes make an uncomfortable "squooshy" sound. The vernal equinox should bring with it a generous helping of all that makes spring worth writing sonnets to

We're all waiting.

Plans Studied For $350,000 Building Here

Plans for the projected $350,000 western headquarters building of the American Insurance company of Newark, N. J., to be built in Linfield Oaks professional zone, were being examined by city officials this week.

The Menlo Park city planning commission in its capacity as a board of architectural control, may pass on the plans at its next informal meeting March 24.

City Building Inspector J. D. Steiger said this week that working plans for the building were in hand, and were being studied by his department, as a preliminary to issuance of a building permit.

The building, to include a single story and mezzanine, will house approximately 150 workers on its 2½-acre site facing Middlefield road adjacent to Stanford Village.

Western headquarters for the insurance company are currently situated in San Francisco.

William B. Miller, vice president and Pacific department manager for the firm, said that several executives will continue to have offices in San Francisco, but that the "regional" operation would be moved here.

The Pacific department of the company is the regional "home office" for business conducted in California, Washington, Oregon, Nevada, Arizona, Utah, Idaho, Montana, Alaska and Hawaii.

The American Insurance company was established in 1846 and has conducted operations on the Pacific coast for the past 75 years. Its premium income for 1951 was $68,000,000.

After Planners Clash

Disputed Resubdivision Wins O.K. Of City Council at Special Meeting

A proposed resubdivision that brought a public clash last week between two members of the city planning commission in hearing before the city council was approved by the council in Tuesday night's special adjourned meeting called to deal with the problem.

While Planning Commissioner Paul H. Bryant and Commission Chairman Charles Andrews again stated their views on the matter, the decision was reached quietly after councilmen, reviewing applicable ordinances in the case, resolved that there was no legal basis for denying the resubdivision.

Mayor Charles P. Burgess stated the opinion, variously seconded by other members of the council present, that "we cannot capriciously disallow what the laws of the city permit."

"OUT OF HARMONY"

Bryant again declared that he felt the proposal to subdivide the lot, most of which lies in the rear of other lots facing Crane street near Valparaiso avenue with a 35-foot strip connecting it to Crane street, was "out of harmony with improvements already in."

Andrews, on the other hand, declared that the proposal met all legal requirements and was similar to many other resubdivisions in the area which had been approved by the planning commission and the city council in recent years.

Andrews added, "Mr. Bryant himself has approved them, and Mr. Bryant should appreciate that in order to have two houses on a piece of property, the property

New Las Lomitas Kindergarten Plans Approved by Trustees

Plans for the Las Lomitas school kindergarten were approved by members of the district's board of trustees at a special meeting last Thursday night.

The plans for the unit, to be built at the present Las Lomitas school site, have been forwarded to Sacramento for approval by state board of architecture officials. After their approval is received, bids for the project will be called.

No definite time schedule for completion of the building has been set, but Mrs. Hester Bonnot, clerk of the district's board of trusteess, said this week that it is hoped the new kindergarten will be completed by the opening of school in September. The present kindergarten is to be torn down during the summer.

Cost of the new kindergarten is estimated at abopt $27,000 by Architect Peter Kump.

In the chapter area as a whole, a total of $32,499.59 had been collected, as of yesterday. The chapter's quota is $52,000.

Resubdivision . . .

should be subdivided to make it legal."

Planning Consultant Harold F. Wise, at the request of the council, presented plats of 10 similar rear-lot subdivisions that have been approved and declared that the city's subdivision ordinance contained no grounds for disapproval if the plan met legal requirements.

Bryant stated that he believed intent of the ordinance was to make creation of interior lots discretionary with the planning commission or city council.

Wise declared that there is no such provision or intent indicated in the ordinance.

Councilman Arthur Cobbledick stated he felt the proposed split-up of land would result in raising the standard of the area, since the 35-foot ingress to the rear lots would have to be maintained without a dwelling on it.

George S. Ford said he felt the plan represented a better use of the lot and could not see that anyone would be hurt by it.

Michael L. Belangie declared that, while he hated to see large parcels of land broken up, the precedent had been established and the laws allowed it. Further, he said that he did not see that the present plan would in any way reduce esthetic values of the neighborhood.

If we are to disallow this resubdivision, Belangie said, then the laws should be changed.

By unanimous action, the council then approved the proposal.

Hobart Street Paving Asked

Hope for somewhat easier approval of the proposed second unit of the city's storm drainage project was offered this week with submission of a petition for grading and paving of Hobart street.

George Lea, 860 Hobart, one of the men presenting the petition to the council, declared he had helped circulate a petition opposing the drainage plan on the grounds that so long as Hobart street remained ungraded and unpaved, property owners there would receive no benefit from the storm drains. But, he told councilmen Tuesday night, if the street is paved he will withdraw his opposition to the drainage system.

The petition, signed by 33 of the 50 owners fronting on the street, was brought to the council by Lea, Henry J. McFadden, 640 Hobart, and John D. Potter, 520 Hobart, who asked the council's advice on next legal steps to be taken.

The council referred the matter to City Attorney James T. O'Keefe and City Engineer Edwin H. Smith for further action.

The name of an Atherton resident who has donated his tenth pint of blood at the San Mateo county blood bank this week headed the list of south county residents who recently made donations at the facility.

The 10-time donor is Robert K. Hill, who resides with his wife and three children at 208 San Benito avenue.

"I found that I suffered no ill effects, so I continued to make donations through the blood bank," he says.

A resident of Atherton since 1942, Hill is a veteran of World War II, in which he saw two years' service in Europe.

Besides Hill, 36 other area residents were listed as making recent donations as the blood bank. Among these were John W. Luders Jr., who made his ninth donation, and Fred H. Slater, who joined the "gallon club" with his eighth presentation of a pint of blood at the facility.

NO MORE CHIP

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN:

That henceforth, insofar as this newspaper represents the editorial voice of Menlo Park, we have removed the chip from our shoulder.

For years now we have been proud of our city and its great potentialities. We have boasted of those potentialities and, by our attitude, dared others to dispute them.

Now, we feel those potentialities are, in large measure, achieved. Menlo Park has arrived. No longer do we have to go about saying we are good, that we are going to be a big city some day. We are already a city of more than 20,000 population.

Those facts are self-evident, and if a person is so blind as not to recognize the facts, our reaction now is a shrug of the shoulders, a wry smile and a quietly murmured, "Suit yourself. We're too busy to argue."

We have noticed this change in attitude throughout Menlo Park during the last few months.

In our business community three years ago, there was a constant hustle and bustle of new merchants trying to justify their faith in what they thought was a strong, growing town.

Today, those "new" merchants of three years ago are old-timers. They are well established men who look now upon their business district with pride instead of with somewhat nervous hope.

Three years ago our city officials used to speak of 20,000 population as an eventual goal, which might be reached in 10 years. That size city, they said then, was the best for economical operation.

Now we have passed the 20,000 mark, and Menlo Park's official family would probably be content to grow no more.

But Menlo Park will keep on growing.

The difference in the growth of the future is that it will be more self-assured.

Instead of the youth who can't wait to get big enough to shave, Menlo Park is now a mature man, content to grow older and wiser—and perhaps a bit larger around the middle—as the years dictate.

Menlo Park has come of age, and we don't wear a chip on our shoulder any more.

BICYCLE SAFETY

Menlo Park Elementary School district Superintendent Mel Homfeld, in his weekly newsletter to parents puts in a word of caution to all whose children ride bicycles.

Homefeld's warning is underscored in our news column this week with the story of a boy who was injured, reportedly from riding his bicycle into the side of an automobile.

Homfeld emphasizes the need of education and re-education in the rules of safety, that it is every parent's job to stress to his children the basic precautions necessary to help prevent serious accidents.

We agree, but also we wish to point out to every driver in Menlo Park the responsibility that rests with him.

Menlo Park is a predominantly residential city with a child population as high as one is likely to find anywhere. Recent surveys show that 34 per cent of the population is under 14 years of age.

That means a lot of children, on bicycles, on scooters or just playing in the streets when Mommy isn't looking.

Every driver should remember: If you drive carefully as a general rule, drive twice as carefully in Menlo Park.

We love our children.

WELCOME

To another prospective member of Menlo Park's Linfield Oaks "garden office" zone we are happy to say "Welcome" this week.

Plans for the erection of the new regional headquarters of the American Insurance company are now being studied by city officials.

This company and its employees will be a fine addition to the group of firms that already includes the Allstate Insurance company, Lane Publishing company and Magna Engineering corporation.

To all the staff of the American Insurance company we say, "Glad to have you join us. We are sure you will enjoy Menlo Park living as much as we do."

Your City's Business

'Taxes' Are Topic Of Meet

By CHARLES P. BURGESS

The city council has invited representatives of our various overlapping taxing districts to meet in our civic center on the night of March 28 to discuss taxing policies for the coming fiscal year.

The town council of Atherton, because Atherton is overlapped by much the same districts as we are, also has been invited to participate in the conference.

This will be the third such meeting we have held, the first being about ten months ago. This one is timely because of the increase in basis of assessed valuations which will be effective next year. Property will be increased a flat fifty per cent over present values throughout the county in order to bring it into line with other counties in the state.

This necessary action will result in some rather important tax increases to veterans who now have veterans' exemptions of $1000.

The ordinary taxpayer will have his assessed valuation increased 50 per cent and tax rates will have to be cut back 33⅓ per cent in order that the tax bill won't be higher. In the case of a veteran with a house assessed at $3400 who would lose his exemption altogether with this revaluation, his taxable valuation would jump from $2400 to $5100, or by 112 per cent.

A veteran with a home now assessed at $2000 would find his taxable valuation doubled from $1000 to $2000.

For the typical veterans' housing which is assessed in the neighborhood of $1700, the taxable valuation would increase from $700 to 71550, or by 121 per cent.

Property taxes are heavy now, especially in view of sharp increases in income tax rates which have depleted taxpayers' net income. It is especially important, therefore, that all our governing boards cooperate in not allowing the increased basis of valuation to influence their taxing policies.

It will be the purpose of this meeting to coordinate our policies so that the taxpayers' interests will be fully taken into account in fixing the budgets of the coming fiscal year.

With the calibre of men comprising our local boards, I am sure this objective will be achieved.

County Residents Share Budget Cost

For the 264,690 people of San Mateo county, the proposed $1,185,397,270 California state budget for 1952-53—if it is not reduced—means taxes of $27,922,541, California Taxpayers' association estimates.

The county's bill for the $771,526,523 state spending program for 1947-48 was $15,187,752 for the 188,300 people in the county at Jan. 1. 1948.

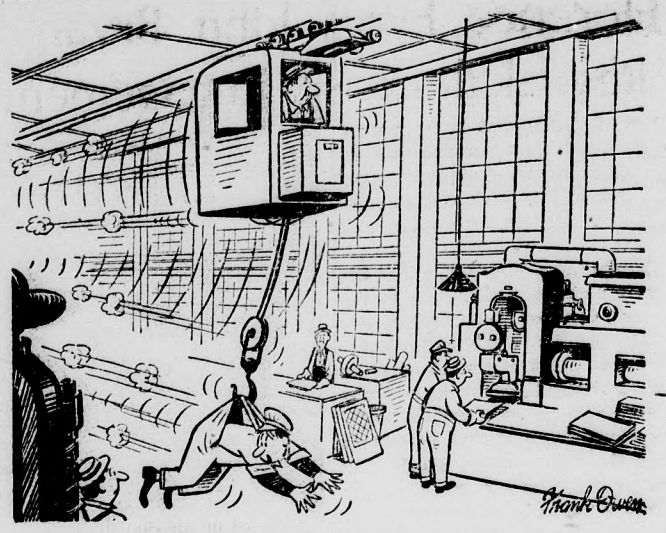

The $1,185,397,270 state budget for 1952-53, now before the legislature, is 54 per cent bigger than the state's $771,526,523 total authorized expenditure for 1947-48, the association said.

Hospital Treats 746 in Month

A total of 746 persons were treated at the Sequoia hospital in Redwood City during February, hospital administrators have announced.

In their monthly statistical report, hospital authorities said that the hospital was the scene of 102 births, 11 deaths and 116 major operations during the period. Average days' stay per patient was 5.2.

Of the 746 patients treated, 44 were from Menlo Park and 7 were from Atherton.

The Veterans' Guide:

Officer Urges Early Filing for Tax Exemptions

Floyd D. Granger, county veterans service officer, has joined county tax Assessor, O. B. Hempstead in urging veterans who own property in San Mateo county to file early for their $1000 property tax exemption.

The State constitution, which extends the tax exemption to veterans of all wars—including the Korean emergency—requires applications to to be submitted to the tax assessors' office between the first Monday in March and last Monday in May, the officers pointed out. The filing period this year runs from March 3 through May 26.

It was stressed by both county officials that wives of property owners now in active service may file for the tax ememption on behalf of their husbands. The exemption does not apply, however. to property assessed at a value of more than $5000.

Granger noted that veterans of World War II who were in service at any time between Dec. 7, 1941, and May 16, 1946, are entitled to the tax exemption, as well as Korean veterans who had service after June 27, 1950, when the Korean conflict began.

Unremarried widows of California servicemen and in some cases the widowed mothers or pensioned fathers of deceased servicemen are eligible for the $1000 tax exemption, it was added.

Information is available at the tax assessors' office and at the veterans' service office, courthouse, Redwood City.

Granger further states that if property is within the limits of an incorporated city, separate applications must be made to the city assessor and the county assessor.

Applications may be mailed in by veterans who are not filing for the first time, O. B. Hempstead, county assessor, said. Initial applications for the exemption must be filed in person by the veteran or his wife

Florence Eyre, John Bryan Reveal Surprise Engagement

The engagement of Florence Atherton Eyre, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Engle Eyre of Atherton, to John Maxwell Bryan of Piedmont was revealed last Sunday at a cocktail party given by the Eyres to honor the affianced Sally Fay and Michael Tobin.

A tentative late May or early June wedding date has been set by Florence and John.

The bride-elect is the great-granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Faxon Dean Atherton, pioneers in this locale after whom the town was named.

A graduate of the Sacred Heart convent in Menlo Park and Mills college, Florence is an active member of the San Francisco Junior League, the Woodside-Atherton auxiliary to the Stanford Convalescent home and the Peninsula Volunteers Inc. She has also been working at the Children's hospital.

In 1945 the bride-to-be was introduced to society at the Victory Ball held in the Palace hoted. Marriage will erase her name from the membership list of the Spinsters.

She is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lilburn Eyre and of Mrs. Alice de Lenclos of Paris and the late Dr. Edmond de Lenclos. Her only brother is Edward E. Eyre Jr., who is now serving with the army.

The prospective bridegroom pursued his studies at the Webb school in southern California, Stanford and later at the Harvard school of Business Administration. During the war he served as an officer with the navy. He is also a member of the Spinster's brother organization, the Bachelors.

He is the son of Mrs. Carleton Bryan and the late Mr. Bryan of Piedmont. He is the nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Burke Corbet of Palo Alto and of Mr. and Mrs. Prentis Cobb Hale Jr. of San Francisco.

He is also the grandson of the late Mrs. Prentis Cobb Hale Sr. of San Francisco and of Mrs. John P. Maxwell of Oakland.

His only brother, Carleton F. Bryan Jr. is married to the former Carol Jean Parker of Woodside.

Box Social Fete Set for Friday At Rec Center

A box social, planned by Ravenswood P-TA to honor Principal Joseph D'Anna, has been scheduled for tomorrow night at 9 p. m. in Ravenswood Recreation center. Neil Mulford is chairman of the affair.

Admission is free, with funds being raised through auctioning of box midnight-suppers prepared by the women. According to Mulford, sandwiches and dessert should be included. Punch and coffee will be sold also.

As the ladies come in, they must surrender their boxes, whereupon a number is stamped on the container, and a similar number given to the former box owner. The auction, emceed by Bob Rose and Gene Rumpell is slated for 11 p. m., and bidders are to eat their supper with the woman whose box they have bought.

Basis of bidding will be on beauty and originality of the suppers' exteriors, and a prize will be awarded to the creator of the box receiving the highest bid.

Dancing will be to Bill White and his orchestra. From 9 to 10 p. m. dancers will "get acquainted", while the half-hour between 10 and 10:30 p. m. has been set aside for taxi dancing (with wives as "taxi girls"). General dancing will then resume from 10:30 to 11 p. m.

Assisting Mulford in the affair are Bill Smoot and Don Walker.

'Mothers' Follies' Is Acclaimed Success

The Ravenswood mothers have done it again—committed their follies! This time the third annual event burlesqued the four years of the fathers' burlesques, with about 75 couples participating on and off stage.

The program led off with "The Year One" or the fathers' farce of Diamond Jim Brady (Irene Stalmach), Lillian Russell (Dorothy Menzel) and a handful of worshipful waitresses (played by May Fazio, Cora Hutcheson and Marella Thom). Hilarious highlight of the act was a Gloworm chorus whose "hoofers" punctuated their ditty with on-and-off flickers of flashlights. The routine, mothered by Phyllis Walker, included Doris Mezzapelle, Helen Cinquini, Gwen Bassett and Grace Kinder.

Following a dash of community singing, act two took off with can-can girls Virginia Denton, Helyn Garber, Naomi Nelson and Irene Goodnow who all shook a mean leg. Contributing their barber-shopping talents to the show were a "Sweet Adelines" quartette composed of Eleanor Gomes, "Leapy" Greenlee, Helen Schemberger and Ruth Goss.

"The Year Three" displayed a bevy of bathing suits, Gay Nineties vintage, draped on "By the Sea" chorusters Mavis Grover, Marjorie Rumpell, Hazel Reece, June Hoagland, Helen Roman and Dorothy Andrus. "Music, Music, Music" was supplied a la trumpet by soloist Gertrude White.

Helen Girvin New Mrs. Bates In Ceremony Last Saturday

Helen Eyre Girvin, gowned in rustling graybeige silk taffeta and veiled white hat, was escorted by her brother Murray down the aisle of the Woodside village church last Saturday to become the wife of Paul Marshall Bates Jr.

The Rev. Charles H. Hudson officiated at the 4 p. m. ceremony.

Mrs. Stanley Williams (Mary Dorsey Forsythe) traveled from her home in Chicago to be matron of honor. Her costume was of Mediterranean blue antique silk taffeta with matching hat.

Best man for the bridegroom was William A. Swinerton.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Richard Girvin, wife of the late Richard Girvin, donned for the occasion an apricot lace dress trimmed in satin, which blended in with the decorations of pink, yellow and white spring flowers.

Following the ceremony, family members and close friends were invited to a reception held at the Girvin home in Atherton, where the bride changed to her blue going-away suit topped off by a pink hat.

The new Mrs. Bates attended Castilleja school, Scripps college and Stanford university. She is also an active member of the San Francisco branch of the Junior League. Her two brothers are Murray and Robert.

The bridegroom, son of Captain Paul Bates of Del Mar, is a graduate of Burlingame high school and the University of California. He has one sister, Jeanne Bates Lansworth.

Mrs. Girvin had been travelling in South America with Mrs. Stewart Elliott and Mrs. Eli Wiel, and returned home March 2 to attend her daughter's pre-nuptial parties and wedding.

The newlyweds have chosen 1275 Washington street in San Francisco for their home.

Season Is Reason For Stanford Club Dance Tomorrow

With the acacia blossoms out and the seasonal rainfall almost behind, it's proper that spring (March 21 officially) be celebrated. The Stanford club embracing this locale has planned a dance tomorrow night at 9 p. m. in Longbarn for that reason.

Maestro for the occasion will be Derek Hand with his campus combo. Refreshments include a light buffet pick-me-up served at 11 p. m.

Heading the dance committee are Robert Dean-Turner and Charles Burkett. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Moseman and Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Bradbury are in charge of decorations, which will include spring flowers at each table and Stanford pennants amidst seasonal blossoms.

'Teen-age Talk

By ROXIE RASEY

DA 2-3201

Friday night the Seniors really showed their school spirit at the Senior Pox social. The decorations were wonderful and the lunches were scrumptuous.

At approximately eight-thirty the "wing-ding" got underway with Bruce Tjaden acting as the auctioneer. All the boxes showed long hours of hard work and each one was very original. We'd like to give you a few examples of these "renovated shoe boxes."

One very effective package was wrapped in a very soft yellow and tied with plaid ribbon and violets—very springy! Another clever idea was a large hat covered with green clovers and filled with violets. The only round box was covered with Saint Patrick's Day hats, baby chickens (not real!), different colored streamers, and lollypops . . . cute?

* * * *

Enough of the food . . . on to the party. The boys bought the packages belonging to an unknown girl who was to be his dinner partner.

The theme was "Hick Day" and very well brought out in the decorations. Life size girls and boys adorned the wall. They were doing a barn dance and the characters resembled those in Lil' Abner.

According to Mickey Singer, senior class president, the class cleared $35—pretty good for one night of fun.

Concessions netted a great deal. The unique idea of a jail really went over in a big way. If a person wanted someone put in jail he merely paid 10 cents and the poor unknown person was thrown in the calaboose. To get out, the captive had to pay another 10 cents. Chairman of the affair, who deserves much credit and compliments, was Nancy Kelly. Other committees included, decorations, Rosalie Paulson; publicity, Mickey Singer; entertainment, Yvonne Sexton; and decoration helpers, Pete Cabalaro and Alice Tamura.

* * * *

Entertainment was provided while the couples ate their dinners. Barbara Brown, Charline Daughtry and Jeanne Rego did two hula dances. Roger Ahlenius played his uke and Bruce Tjaden led the group of guests in some songs. Joelle Staples did a pantomime, as did Chuck Henderson.

Mary Belle Sullivan played two numbers on her accordion and Roger West did a terrific job entertaining on the piano.

Probably you have been reading about the tremendous success of the play, "Great Expectations," by Charles Dickens. Well, Menlo Park can take a bow, for many of the players came right from our town. Altthough it was staged at the Palo Alto Community theater, our actors deserve just as much credit from Menlo as from Palo Alto. "Pip" was played by Steve Graham; "Joe," Stew Graham; "Raymond," Wes Day; Mr. Wopsle," John Yarborough; "Officer" and Bentley Drummle," Jack Kelly.

Children's Theater Prompts Parties

Menlo Park's April 26th production of the Peninsula Children's Theater association play called "The Magic Lamp," to be given at Central school, may seem a long way off, but theater parties have already been scheduled for the event.

In the audience, too, will be the younger members of Dr. and Mrs. Ernest Sultan's family, Atherton, and their junior neighbors, the children of Mr. and Mrs. John Niven. Gail Conwell, daughter of Mrs. Mildred Conwell, Atherton, will also attend the show.

Championships Yet to Be Decided in Three Divisions as School League Finals Near

Menlo Park elementary school basketball league play enters its second to final week of play this Saturday morning at Burgess gym.

The Encinal Bees must knock off the Central Badgers in the 9 a. m. opener in order to stay in the race. A win for either team cinches the B division championship.

The Central Daggers and Fremont Darts will be battling for supremacy in the D division in their tilt at 10 a. m. The loser will have to take a back seat in the wide open D league race.

The Hillview Daschunds and Fremont Dominos vie in another D loop contest at 11 a. m. and the Fremont Comets and Encinal Crickets will round out the quadruple bill in a lone C game at 12 noon.

The Cougars became the second Central school team to cinch a championship last week as they knocked off the Hillview Chimps 18-6, to finish their C division campaign undefeated. The Central All-Stars cinched the A division title two weeks earlier.

In other games Saturday, the Central Badgers disposed of the Central Bums in a tight contest, 15-13, the Fremont Comets defeated the Hillview Chimps, 10-2, and the Hillview Dogs knocked off the Hillview Daschunds, 14-2.

The league standings are as follows:

A Division—Central All-Stars, 3-0; Encinal Ants, 0-3;

B Division—Central Badgers, 2-0; Encinal Bees, 1-0; Central Bums, 2-1, Encinal Bats, 0-2;

C Division—Central Cougars, 5-0; Encinal Crickets, 3-1; Fremont Comets, 3-1; Hillview Chumps, 1-3; Hillview Chimps, 1-4; Hillview Champs, 4-0;

D Division—Fremont Darts, 3-1; Fremont Dominos, 3-1; Central Daggers, 3-1; Encinal Dragons, 2-2; Hillview Dogs, 1-3; Hillview Daschunds, 0-4.

New Rules Set For Jr. Softball

The Menlo-Atherton junior softball laegue will enter its third season soon under various new conditions. The loop, formerly only for fifth grade boys and down, will now be split into two divisions. The A division will be for fith and sixth graders while the B loop will be for fourth down.

The loop, managed by several local 'teen-agers in the past, will be sponsored by the Menlo Park Recreation department with Shreve and Burgess sports shop as headquarters. Recreation Director Fred Parsons named Dennis Anderson as league director.

The size of the circuit will be increased from four to six teams, eight to twelve, depending on the signup. All boys interested in playing should leave their name, address, grade, phone number and school at Shreve and Burgess, 785 Santa Cruz, in Menlo Park.

MAHS Netmen Set Meet with Paly

If blessed with some sun, Menlo-Atherton high school's tennis team will host Palo Alto at Menlo-Atherton in a Peninsula Athletic League match tomorrow.

Coach Walter Olson's inexperienced netmen were rained out of their PAL opener against Burlingame last Friday as well as a practice match with Sequoia the week before.

In their lone meet of the season, the Bears lost to Sequoia, 4-2, at M-A in a practice tilt. Olson's charges won both doubles events after losing all four singles matches.

Footballer Dave Easley sparks the locals, aided by Phil Smith, Bill DeLu, Dave Hansen, Kirby Willkins, and several others.

TALENT SHOW

The Sequoia high school district Youth Talent Exhibit will be held May 15, 16, 17 and 18 at the Redwood City Recreation center, 1120 Roosevelt avenue. Applications for entries will be at district schools by April 1, show committee members announce.

Still No Place to Go but Up:

MAHS Varsity Baseballers Continue Search For First Win; Jorgensen Paces Squad

Dick (Yogi) Jorgensen continued to pace Menlo - Atherton high school's Varsity baseballers last week as Coach Howard Costello's nine continued to strive for its first win.

Jorgensen and Shortstop Stan Skeie were the only squad members who could get any wood on the ball and collected more than half of the Bear hits between them. Jorgensen also looked good on the basepaths and had played errorless ball at second base. Both boys are juniors, as is the majority of the squad.

The locals have yet to break into the win column, losing twice last week. They were edged by Mt. View 3-1, and shut out by Fremont 6-0. In three games thus far the Bears have tallied one run to opponents' 18. Only three of the opponents' runs have been earned however.

Joe Whitlock looked very impressive for the M-A team Tuesday, fanning 17.

The Costellemen were rained out of a scheduled return match with Mt. View Tuesday and may not be able to open their Peninsula Athletic League season tomorrow against Lincoln there unless the weatherman sees fit.

STARTERS

The Bears' probable starting nine for tomorrow's tilt will be as follows:

The entire squad includes Catchers Trumbull and Bill Walker; Pitchers Wihtlock, Bill Gibbs, Fred Roehr, and Sonny Barron; First basemen, Del Pozzo and Joe Piazza; Second basemen, Jorgensen, Jack Demorest and Dick Farman; Shortstop, Skeie; and Outfielders, Sherman, Young, Delucchi, Don Stansfield, Tom Carter and Bob Andrade.

Coach Don Dorfmeier's Frosh-Soph squad includes Catchers Bill Mills, Leon Finegold and Joe Heredia; Pitchers Ken Rose, Don Bogue, Finegold, Troy Ratliff, and Steve

M-A Frosh-Soph Baseballers Meet Burlingame

Menlo - Atherton high school's frosh-soph baseball team was slated to meet Burlingame's underclassmen in a practice game yesterday, provided the weatherman provided enough sun to dry out the Panther diamond.

The frosh-sophs had already had two games cancelled because of rain or wet grounds. The Bruins, who have no practice field and have to be content with minimum workouts, edged out San Mateo 3-2 in their lone start last week.

Weather permitting, the Bears will cross bats with Santa Clara there Monday and will open PAL competition against Jefferson on M-A's home field (wherever that is) next Thursday.

The locals have been promised the Veterans' hospital diamond when it is in shape, but progress on readying the field has been slow.

Exhibit at Library Shows Camera to Be Strong Artistic Medium, Reviewer Says

By J. SAVAGE WILDMAN

Now on exhibit at the Menlo Park branch library, 631 Menlo avenue are eight excellent examples of the work of the camera used as a means of artistic expression. They are works of members of the Camino camera club, a group of photographers which meets twice a month at the civic center.

Th camera has been used as a medium of artistic expression in these pieces with as much validity as a painter uses brush and paint.

Elmo Hayden's picture, "Rope and Post," illustrates this, perhaps, a little more effectively than others, in that appreciation of the subject is gained only through an understanding of the elements of design employed in the study.

The coiled length of rope leads the eye through a series of graceful and well controlled patterns.

CONTRAST

In contrast to the flowing lines of the rope, the base of the post is angular and hard. It is effectively used to allow the eye to enter the picture with ease and also provides a contrast in texture with that of the rope. The photograph is a simple, yet delightful, "outdoors still-life."

Contrasting designs are used in another piece by Hayden. His "Windmill Study" engages the dramatic use of the angular pattern of the man-made structure with a few branches of a tree seen at the top of the photograph to act as a foil.

Another interesting building study by Hayden is his "Gate House." This presents one of the baroque buildings of the late 19th century as a gleaming, ornate piece surrounded by dark groves of trees and bushes.

An expression of Nature, in her most thundering and beautiful violence, is caught by John Starkey in his "Seascape." He has photographed a breaking wave as it crashed over a rugged reef.

Its forceful impact is caught as it is silhouetted against a darkened sky.

DIFFERENT

The tang of the seas is presented, in a different way, in another piece by Starkey. His "Oceangoing Ship" shows an ocean freighter loading at a pier. However, this common subject is given more impact by the dramatic use of pilings in the foreground, which occupy much of the picture, focusing attention upon the ship.

Carol Hayden's "Escape Pattern" also presents a common place subject in a dramatic fashion. She has simply photographed a fire escape of the side of a modern big-city building.

However, by carefully choosing the camera angle and by bringing out the strong contrasting shadows, she has brought about a powerful interpretation.

She also has wisely employed one of the basic elements of good design, that is, repetition. The patterns of the fire escape's landings repeat themselves, giving the study a nice feeling of depth.

Two photographs of children, a subject of universal appeal, make up the other two pieces of the show.

CHILDREN

Cathline Musto has caught a very warm and loveable feeling in her "Child With Stuffed Toy." The little girl is presented in all of the wide-eyed naturalness of little children, a most difficult feat.

Elsie Foley's "Little Girl and Big Tears" captures the fleeting expression of a child right after a tearful experience and she realizes "everything will be alright."

One almost expects to see her break into a fresh, warm smile. Here, once again, the camera captures and transmits a common emotion.

The camera club promises that in the near future more of their works will be exhibited at the library, the latter open from 2 p. m. to 5 p. m. and from 7 p. m. to 9 p. m. Mondays through Fridays.

Encinal-McKinley To Star in County Casaba Playoffs

Encinal school eighth grade basketballers will meet counterparts from McKinley school of Redwood City, in a match which will decide the first place winner in the county eighth grade casaba tourney. Play will be at the Redwood City recreation center.

The two teams emerged victorious from semifinals last week, in which the McKinleyites dropped a team representing Ravenswood school and the Encinal five downed College park, 30-10.

The Ravenswood-McKinley game was the thriller of the afternoon, with the teams scoring virtually point for point until the last of the third stanza. David Ayers of the winners was the high point man, scoring 20 points. Bill Hilton of Ravenswood scored 16.

Tom Demarest led the scoring for Encinal school in the second game, making 12 markers.

'Teenage Teams In Practice Tilt

Menlo Furnace company's 'teenage basketball team vies with the Menlo Hi-Y five in a practice game at Burgess gym this evening at 7 p. m. The Furnacemen knotted for the first half Ravenswood Recreation 'teen-age league championship while the Hi-Y was runner-up in the Menlo Park 'teen loop.

Both squads have lost several players to Menlo-Atherton baseball teams.

In an independent contest at Burgess gym on Monday, the Menlo Blues solidly trounced the North Fair Oaks Panthers as Pat Melvin racked up 20 points.

In second half avenswood Recreation 'teen-age loop play, the St. Francis Gremlins routed the Panthers 51-31 and the LDS Explorers put on a last minute splurge to dump Menlo Furnace 29-22.

The remaining schedule for the Ravenswood league had not been announced by yesterday morning.

MP Jr. Riflemen To Get Awards

Medals and brassards were issued to members of the Menlo Park junior rifle club at a special meeting of the group, held last night at the city council chambers in the civic center.

The awards were given for marksmanship records achieved by members of the Junior rifle club at recent target sessions at the Stanford ROTC range.

Menlo Park Police Chief George Potter and Sergeant Joseph Ferriera, the latter chief instructor for the club, were on hand to present the medals.

The meeting replaced the regular Thursday "shoot session" of the group for this week. The target sessions will be resumed next week, March 27, at the campus range.

The awards were donated by the Menlo Park Lions and Rotary clubs.

Family Council in Stanford Village Gets Things Done Through Cooperation

By JOAN HARZFELD

(Second of two articles)

How does the Stanford Village family council function and what exactly does it accomplish?

In the first place, it attempts to solve all inter-family problems—insoluble at unit meetings—that effect the apartment dwellerss.

For example, the man in family A is a music major and enjoys an evening off Bach records, played fortissimo.

Family B's student is a physics major and must have complete silence while studying. Mrs. B has requested Mrs. A to cut down the volums of A's phonograph, but Mrs. A refuses, even after subtle reprimanding at the unit conference.

The problem is brought before the family council, and results in community, as well as unit, pressure on the offenders. Nine times out of ten this solves the issue.

Since a large percentage of the village's population is comprised of children (486 of them), the council oversees several activities for their benefit.

In addition to four yearly parties, the youngsters are regaled with nine-cent Saturday motion picture shows. These shows, operated under a committee of four housewives, were inaugurated so that mothers would have the morning free to shop.

ROTATION

A kindergarten mothers' group, with members chosen by rotation, oversees the junior juniors to their school busses every day.

One of the main projects of the council is the equipping of a playground near Middlefield road. At the present time utilities consist of a "jungle gym," a barbecue pit and a baseball field. Two annual fashion shows plus cake sales to single students are sponsored to raise money for the equipment.

The wardrobe room committee, supervised by the family council, presses and mends clothes collected by the Stanford Mothers' club. The room is opened Thursdays for clothing sales.

In conjunction with this, baby beds, strollers, diapers and other infant needs are "signed out" to families on the promise of return when they are outgrown. Sewing machines are also loaned out at a nominal fee.

These are but a few of the committees and activities carried on under the auspices o fthe Village Family council.

Student Counselor John M. Yarborough, in a doctorate study of 50 similar university communities, determined that the Stanford body leads all others in the number of organizations set up and run by the students and their wives.

BUY ENCYLOPEDIA

It was announced last week that the Hillview school student council has voted to purchase a set of the "Worldbook Encyclopedia" for the school, with funds derived from a magazine sales campaign in November.

P-TA MEMBERS SEE DANCE DEMONSTRATION

FOLK DANCERS—Members of Miss Pat Groom's sixth grade class at Belle Haven school last night provided entertainment at a meeting of the Belle Haven P-TA, held at the school. Besides the dance demonstration, those attending viewed a motion picture and heard a lecture, the latter by Dr. Norman Snider, dealing with "Dental Health." Officers for the coming year were also to be elected at the meeting.

Las Lomitas Voters Called to Meet

All voters residing in the Las Lomitas school district have been invited to a special meeting to be held Monday night, March 24, at Las Lomitas school for the purpose of discussing a raise in the maximum tax rate which the school district may levy.

The proposed hike in the tax rate maximum is to be the subject of a special election April 4.

The meeting is to feature a panel discussion of the proposed measure, designed to acquaint voters with it. The meeting starts at 8 p. m.

David Samuels, president of the Las Lomitas P-TA and head of the citizen's committee for the proposal, will present the problem of district finances and will state the findings of the citizen's committee in regard to it.

Fire Commission Appointment Due

Appointment of C. Vernon Barker of Atherton to the Menlo Park fire district board of commissioners will come before the San Mateo county board of supervisors at the latter body's April 1 meet.

Barker, who resides at 65 Winchester drive, Atherton, is to replace Polk Dodson, present chairman of the commission, when he retires April 14. Dodson resides at 600 Ringwood road.

Deadline for filing for election to the fire district commission was Feb. 27. Barker was the only candidate to file for the post. Customarily, such a single candidate is appointed by the county body.

County Clerk John A. Bruning said yesterday that consideration of the appointment is "definitely on the supervisors' agenda" for the April 1 date.

Hillview Students Hear Stanford Athletes; Encinal Seventh Graders Work on Project

Ed Tucker and Jim Ramstead, members of the Stanford university basketball team, were guest speakers at a meeting of the Hillview school student body last Thursday at the school. It was the second time that Stanford athletes have been guests of the student body.

Tucker discussed "sportsmanship" while Ramstead talked about Stanford basketball play this season.

The two players had to leave before student body members could get autographs, because Ramstead had to return to the university campus to pack so he could catch a plane for Denver, for the AAU tournament.

The Seventh grade class of Encinal school has been busy with a library project. Ours is one of two classes chosen for the project.

Mrs. Knight of the San Mateo county library and Mrs. Vera Johnson of its Menlo Park branch have been our leaders in a study of the library.

We have studied the Dewey decimal classification system and have become familiar with most of the terms of the library. We used encyclopedias and reference books in correlations with our social studies of Africa.

Each Thursday morning we go to to the Menlo Park branch of the county library, with some definite study in mind. As a special treat we have had outstanding authors who live in our area come in and speak to us. Among them have been Mrs. Garthwaite and Howard Pease.

As a culmination of our project we had a display of posters at a downtown store, calling attention to library week last week.

Ann Stapleton

Ennio Ciolli's fifth grade class at Fremont school is studying the Westward Movement of the pioneers of that day.

We divided ourselves into five different groups according to the topics that we were interested in. The topics being studied are "Ohio Valley," "Santa Fe Trail," "Prairie Settlements," "Oregon Trail," and the "California Trail."

The things we want to find out about the pioneers are:

1. The ways they traveled.
2. The food they ate.
3. The clothing they wore and how they got this clothing.
4. The work they did and how they did it.
5. What they did for recreation.
6. Some of the famous men of the area being studied.
7. Why the pioneers moved west.

Each group of students is reading about their pioneers and then writing a short story of what they read. I'm reading about transportation in the Ohio Valley and it is very interesting.

Each group is also working on a project to show something they studied about. Our group is studying the Ohio Valley and making a flatboat for a project.

Bob Forsberg
Fremont fifth grade.

This morning our class went to the Eaton ranch. The living room was made of the original adobe. The walls were two feet thick.

Mrs. Eaton had many old things, some over 2000 years old. She had a very old bowl, two birds and a very lovely light fixture. I thought the whole ranch was beautiful.

Patricia Flanders.

HOW CAN I?

By LYNN CARTER

Q. How can I destroy plant lice?

A. Spray with a syringe and a suds of naphtha soap. Also one tablespoonful of smoking tobacco soaked in a quart of water for about twelve hours or more makes a solution that will destroy insects and promote plant growth. Pour on the soil about every two months.

A Planned Pattern for Outdoor Living Will Help You Make Full Use of Your Lot

By TERRY LEE

In this country of ample land and natural resources, it is the home owner's despair that everything must be considered in terms of square footage.

His house and lot, even his lawn and fence are limited by the mathematics of unit costs and bank books.

Considering this, it amazes me that, once purchased, the area of a lot is ignored. Each bit should be used, each outdoor activity provided for. It is only the man with a lot of land who seems to feel the need of design.

Actually, he has room for error.

It is the average home owner who is really in need of a pattern.

He buys a contractor's house, which is little more than a box of living space. It is dropped, without any regard for orientation, in the middle of a lot which has suffered for size.

Moreover, after making a down payment on his home, the new owner is broke. The thought of a landscape architect's fee or even the price of a dollar shrub appalls him.

And thus he lives for several years, with just enough grass to hold down the dust and a few shrubs around the foundation of his house to add a decorative touch.

This picture is so opposed to the new home owner's dream of a pleasant place to work, play and relax in a related indoor and outdoor room placed in a perenially gay and attractive garden. It is a problem that can be solved, and any time is a good time to start. It is easy to obtain an improvement loan, or ask the contractor to include landscaping in the total price of the house.

EXTRA VALUE

Any real estate man will tell you the extra value of a landscaped house.

Think also of the pleasure it will give you. Delay is costly. In three years your lawn thickens and small shrubs and trees grow to an effective size. To ignore planting for that length of time and suddenly wish for an established effect will cost you about four times as much.

As a general rule, you should spend about 10 per cent of the cost of your house on lanscaping.

Of this amount, your design will cost 10 per cent. The landscape designer can produce nothing to equal the work of a professional landscape architect. The latter is an artist, and he thinks in terms of spatial design, line, form, and texture.

His sympathy is with the people living in the garden, and his patterns are easily adjusted to momentary whims about color or plant material.

Terrace, paths and paving account for 20 per cent. Their initial cost is high, but maintenance is almost nothing.

CONTROL

The control of weather and privacy will cost 25 per cent of the total, with grading and soil building about 10 per cent.

Lawns and major planting are at least 25 per cent of your cost, with small plants and colorful accents 10 per cent. Of course there are many extras like lighting, lathhouse, and swimming pool. The grading, paving and fencing should come first, with plant material as the filling and integrating part of your pattern.

The happiest solution in design is the integration of house and site. It is an expensive, custom-made dream for most of us, and we must do the best we can to enclose, surface and enrich the space we are given.

Our society lives in over enclosed houses and under enclosed gardens. These elements are made up of too

New Safeway Open This Week

Open for business this week at 2200 El Camino Real, Redwood City, near Five Points, is the new Safeway store that burned down just before its opening date almost a year ago.

The brick-veneered building measures 108 by 150 feet, for a total of 16,200 square feet of floor space. Adjoining it is a parking area that will accommodate more than 80 cars at a time.

Eight specially designed checkstands are installed to provide rapid service for customers.

In charge of the new store is Manager John Ball. He has been associated with Safeway stores since 1931, when he started his career as a food clerk. Ball will be assisted by a staff of about 35 persons, including Louis Dell'Acqua, head produce clerk; Alex Orzel, assistant manager; and Frank Keller, head meat cutter.

Garden Plan . . .

many elements arranged with no care.

Coy little pieces of stepping stones lead us to the front door, an elaborate barbecue stands out like an over sized incinerator, and the poor housewife may have to hang her laundry between the patio posts until some one thinks about a service yard.

FIRST JOB

The first job is to determine what elements you want in your lot and place them convenient to a related area. Hence the service area is near the house, the play yard close to the garage, a sun trap in a secluded corner.

You must provide for four important areas: 1. A public approach, which includes a front yard, walks and driveway; 2. general living. divided into patios, gardens and games areas; 3. a private spot like a suntrap or hobby section; 4. and a workspace for a service yard, garbage, tools, and that all important play yard.

These areas can interlock, as the play yard near the game area, the tools near the garden.

It is only by thoughtful landscaping that all these elements and the people who use them can be related to an area that becomes liveable, functional and delightful. Materials are the means to this end of fine spaces for people to live in. People come first, then the pattern, then the plants.

GARDEN CALENDAR

The wet soil has confused my feelings about spring, but the calendar says today is the day. There are still quite a few bare root trees, but this may be the last week.

Grapes and roses are also still bare rooted, and easy to start that way. Prune away long roots and cut the top back to 12 inches.

Pick out your azaleas and camellias while they are in flower, as they are actually dormant then. Chrysanthemums should be planted now, and cuttings taken from new growth. They root easily in moist sand, as do marguerites and geraniums.

As soon as you can dig, put in the new shrubs you want. I found the ground to which I had added vermiculite last year, is dryer and more workable already, yet it holds moisture much better in the summer. Gypsum would have the same effect.

WOMAN'S WORLD

Professional Care at Home Will Benefit Accessories

By Ertta Haley

HAVE a new dress? Is the old hat fresh and perky with crisp veiling? Are the gloves immaculate? Are hose spotless? It isn't enough to have just a new dress or a new suit. Only when all the accessories are in perfect order, have you achieved good grooming.

Fortunately good care can be given at home to accessories, provided you will learn just what needs to be done for each item, and then take the time to do it. You will, of course, give the attention to these details if you are interested in your appearance as a whole, or in good grooming, as it's called which is perfection in such details as these.

Few people can afford all new accessories each time they get a new dress or suit. Actually it isn't even necessary if you give your attention and tender, intelligent care to accessories you have and can use perfectly well.

Constant attention, which may be brief, will add life to most accessories. It works much like the "stitch in time." Take, for example, a hat. A bit of brushing, steaming and cleaning fluid on the band will prevent it from becoming hopelessly soiled, a stage where it will most surely have to be replaced.

Steam Aids Trimmings, Felt and Velvet Hats

Much life and sparkle can be put into hats as well as trimmings with steam. If you're using a steam iron, place it on the edge of the board so that the front hangs over. Set the dial for rayon. Hold the hat in the steam and turn slowly, steaming the entire crown. Now, using a soft brush or a rubber sponge, work in circles from the top of the crown down to the brim, with the nap or the pile.

Steam and brush in similar fashion the inside and outside of the brim.

Steam from the spout of the teakettle may also be used for this type of cleaning. Make certain that you do not get too much steam, and its moisture on the hat, or it will lose its shape and sizing.

Flowers, feathers and ribbon bows can be freshened with steaming. Only a small amount of steam should be given them, not enough to make them wet. In the case of ostrich feathers which have lost their curl, hold each strand to the steam, and then stretch with a spoon handle or other blunt-edged instrument.

Veils which need stiffening can be treated to steam. Just holding the veil towards the steam iron or spout will do the trick. If the veil stands away from the face, shape it over crushed tissue paper before steaming.

If you prefer, veils can also be stiffened by placing between two pieces of waxed paper and then ironing over the paper.

Very limp veils can be dipped in a solution made by mixing one tablespoon of gum arabic with one cup hot water. Let this dissolve; it takes about two hours. After dipping, press veil with warm iron.

Wash Leather Gloves On Your Hands

Unless they're labeled "washable" don't attempt to wash gloves, for there is a special reason for not putting water on them in that case. Another precauion to remember is never to wash gloves which have ever been dry-cleaned.

Frequent cleaning and washing of gloves is essential. In most instances gloves are quite fragile, and the hard rubbing required to remove soil from very dirty gloves often ruins them.

Leathers except chamois and doeskin become very soft when they are wet. For this reason, put the gloves on the hands, as when you wear them, and then wash in lukewarm suds. The softness which gloves have when wet may cause them to tear, so they're protected by having them held "in shape" on the hands.

Stubborn spots may be treated to extra cleaning with a very soft brush. Apply it very gently, however. When clean, roll the gloves gently off the hands and rinse in clear, lukewarm water.

Pat out the excess moisture in the gloves on a thick towel. Then stretch the gloves gently into shape and blow into the gloves, into each finger to make them as straight and smooth as possible.

Lay the gloves on an absorbent towel or place on glove stretcher for drying. When almost dry, finger press gently in both directions and place on hands to shape gently. If gloves are too dry for this, roll in a damp cloth for a few minutes.

Fabric, knitted wool and string gloves may be washed by the above method. With wool gloves, remove as much moisture as possible after rinsing.

Suede Accessories Respond to Steam

Suede and doeskin gloves, suede handbags and shoes, all, can be brought back to life very readily with steaming and brushing.

If you're freshening this type of glove, place on glove stretchers and hold near the steam iron, set at rayon, and move back and forth while the steam permeates the suede. While still damp, brush with a soft rubber sponge or a soft brush.

This same method may be used on purses, except of course, they do not need any stretchers. When damp, brush as described above: An emery board may be used on worn spots to raise the nap.

Suede shoes can be treated just as are handbags, except it is a good idea to try to remove any loose soil before the steaming. Their appearance can be improved even more if you touch up the edge of the sole and heel with sole dye.

Clean, Attractive Hose Are Most Essential

Hose are fragile, even though you may wear the service or heavier weights and they should never be subjected to too great soiling. If you are busy in them all day, do change to a fresh pair before going out.

Foot perspiration as well as dyes may discolor hose and render them impossible to use except at a time when someone doesn't see you. Soil from both these sources, as well as whatever seeps in through the shoes can be dislodged usually when they're washed immediately upon removing.
